It's just like this moment of complete awkwardness...
One doesn't know what to do
One doesn't know what to say
So I just sit there;
Completely feeding off my own awe
And the conversation seemed to pick up as if the sentence
Was never even said
Sometimes, time is suspended;
Things are spoken
Then, time resumes to its schedule never to be addressed
Again
Just too powerful for the moment;
Completely overwhelming the senses
Fixing upon some irrational insanity of some sort
One of the moments, completely hypnotized, I captured everyone's awareness for that strict non-existent Space.
They are so aware that upon gaining continuity, it never happened.
Maybe just for a few seconds, everyone in the room was Simply there.
Aware.
It really was a beautiful moment.
