They tell me life's a game and I've been playing it for many years. With no luck with no fate, and without too many tears. She stole my heart and that's what really hurt, one day at a time.

I won't take it seriously Its all in good time. There's a time in life my friend when you gotta close the damn door. Hold tight to what you want and take it anyway.

By the way, you left me there, standing around the town. with nothing there unturned 'cause I was trying to hunt you down. Your doors where all locked but I knew you were home, so I smashed the window babe and I stole back my phone.

I won't give and I won't do, just what it takes no more. There's a time in life my friend when you gotta close the damn door. Hold tight to what you want and take it anyway. I want you, But you need me. I won't give and I won't do, just what it takes no more.

The fish, They wonder around the bowl. Looking so sad and lonely. My time is , the night time is and the day time is a drag. You don't know what you want and and you call me on the phone. Saying send me money, honey I gotta catch a bus back home. There's a time in life my friend when you gotta close the damn door.

Hold tight to what you want and take it anyway. They tell me life's a game and I've been playing it for many years.
