

Matthew James Band

"Walls In Which I Hide"

Visit "Walls In Which I Hide" on MotoLyrics.com

Cornered here with my face all wet And my body shakes with a cold, cold sweat, While i feel the weight of my world God, i need one more hit before my world Comes crashing through the door, and The pain returns Will this time be the last Can i forget my past And i dont know why This feeling inside And the walls in which i hide Are to blame Is there anyone who knows A better way to kill my woes Make it go away Give me one good reason to come down Try and face this troubled town From which i came Will I feel my life Is nothing less than strife And i dont know why This tear that i cry And the fear in which i hide Is ____ to blame Hear a stranger at the door so i Crawl across this stone cold floor And let him in Sat with me and fed me bread healed my heart, touched my head and set me free within now i am free from the walls that where killin me And i dont know why This tear that i cry And the fear in which i hide Is ____ to blame

Visit Matthew James Band page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.