Remember this feeling
It will come again
But until it does
Remember this feeling
When everything makes sense
Everything makes sense
I woke up this evening
From the night before
Feeling really ill
My last Serotonin
Must have deserted me while I was sleeping
I put a dot next to everything that makes any sense
And join the dots, and join the dots
I said
I put a dot next to everything that makes any sense
And join the dots, and join the dots
Remember this feeling
It will come again
But until it does
Remember this feeling
When everything makes sense
Everything makes sense
And then I remember
All the things I did
And it makes me smile
I saw so much beauty
And kissed her red wine lips
It made my Tuesday
I put a dot next to everything that makes any sense
And join the dots, and join the dots
I said
I put a dot next to everything that makes any sense
And join the dots, and join the dots
Remember this feeling
