One more day left of summer
We're still chasing the numbers
We're not getting any younger
Why?

You came forward on the shoulders
Of giant waves pulled from corners
Of oceans-violent and tortured
Why those eyes?

Don't you know, don't you know
I can't change my mind
Don't you know, don't you know
I can't change my mind
This time

When I met you I was sold
I was sold on you the first time
I won't leave you cold or alone
No, I won't let you down this time
No, I won't let you drown this time

One more day, one more night
We can't pay that full price
For all our sins
And if you meet God in that next life that we've got Man I hope He kisses you then
I hope He kisses you then

Silence breaks on the shoreline
And I can't hear that which God finds
Beautiful in the high rising tide

Don't you know, don't you know
I can't change my mind
Don't you know, don't you know
I can't change my mind
This time

When I met you I was sold
I was sold on you the first time

I won't leave you cold or alone
No, I won't let you down this time

Oh when I met you I was sold
I was sold on you the first time
I won't leave you cold or alone
No, I won't let you down this time
No, I won't let you down this time
No, I won't let you down this time
