Another morning
And I'm still holding onto you to you
I'll write you letters
Makes me a better man for you and I'd do

Anything, any way
Forever after
All of the steps you take,
I'm standing still
Let it go and try to get some sleep

Another morning
And I'm still looking for a sign for a sign
And all I wanted was for you to look me in the eye
And find

All of the everything that I found in you
Madness and disarray, I still see through
Let it go and try to get some sleep
'Cause you're a secret that I need to keep

Come back
Come back
Come back
Come back home to me

Won't you come back?
Won't you come back home to me?
[x2]

Come back
Come back
Come back
Come back
Please come back
Come back
Come back
Come back home
