

Matthew Perryman Jones

"Looking For You Again"

Visit "Looking For You Again" on MotoLyrics.com

Your breakdown was easy to see
And it took you away further from me
Sifting through mishaps and photographs
I think of you much more than I should
More than I should

And I'm falling down
Like it's holy ground
I'm looking for you again
I'm looking for you again

Slow regrets that live and then die
And I wrote them all down
But I know them by heart
I've counted the cost of this loneliness
And I've paid for the crime
That one day I'd die with you in my mind

And I'm falling down
Like it's holy ground
I'm looking for you again
I'm looking for you again

I'm not letting you go again
I'm not letting this story end
I'm not letting you go again

I'm falling down
Like it's holy ground
I'm looking for you again
I'm looking for you again

Visit Matthew Perryman Jones page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.