We were kids on the play ground and i saved you from a fight it's kind of the dream that i had last night you were on vacation and the rain came pouring down so i made you smile

would that make me a better friend then, would that make me a better
friend?
somehow you believe in, the way that i believe in you
make me a better
friend to ya?

You through the relationship was strong, and nothing went ever wrong then we wouldn't be relating but then again i'd have to amend the pieces that are bent before they are breaking

would that make me a better friend then, would that make me a better friend?
make me a better
friend? would that make me a better friend then?

so when there is no longer a friend what is in the absence? there's just me and the memories in my head i remember the answer well that i'd rather we never met because i haven't forgotten yet.

that i told you all of my secrets gave you all of my love,
would that make me a better friend then, would that
make me a better
friend?

somehow you believe in me, the way that i believe in you
make me a better
friend?

i told you all of my secrets, gave you all of my love would that make me a better friend then, would that make me a better friend?
somehow you believe in me, the way that i believe in
you.
friend tell me?
would that make me a better friend?
