a thousand miles
it's hard to hear you
through the static searching for something to say

a time machine
a magic beam of light
i need a miracle
to get you back here tonight

i'll make you laugh
with shooting stars overhead sharing the dreams
that wake you up when you're sad tightly holding your hand

you're everything that i want i'll never give up
been through this before
and it can get rough
you can push me away
i can deal with the pain
i need you to know
you're everything that i want

in your eyes
there are secrets
i want you here
so i can see them

you're everything that i want
and it can get rough

mistakes in the past
let's make them again

you know me well
better than anyone else i trust your words
those little things that you say they always make it okay

BRIDGE

friday night
saturday morning
simple days
funny stories
i take 'em in
and i adore 'em
all i need
and everything that i want

i need your touch
i need this love
