

Matthew Ryan

"The Little Things"

Visit "The Little Things" on MotoLyrics.com

Has the future come
To make a liar out of me?
Every day I wake
And I'm further out to sea
High above the driving nails
Swirl the gardens of relief
A broken smile
A little grace
For no longer how brief
The little things, the little things mean everything
The little things, the little things mean everything
Now I'm off to work
On the train I only stare
There's a sleepy drum
And there's corruption in the air
Only souls have been lost
Desperate is as desperate does
A little push
A little shove
A little talk I give myself
The little things, the little things mean everything
The little things, the little things mean everything
The little things, the little things mean everything
...to fade

Visit Matthew Ryan page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.