Hey Dad, tell another story,
This time, My Life Gone Wrong.
I know you want to live life for me,
Your work heres almost done-
And all the times that you have ever told me,
Your doubt is mine, son
And when I set it free,
You will not keep me from my heart.

Well rise against the fall this day we take,
We live forever,
Well now we have it all we will not break,
We stand together.

Dear mom, can this even be right,
Father says that Im all done,
I called to get a little insight,
He said, Dont bother, son.
Stand up! For my Im certain,
I know where I belong.
Well fall! Come behind your curtain-
Your day will never come.
We will not let you call us home.

(Chorus)
