Are you growing weary as you dance all alone
In a room that's resonating with an old familiar song Making you want the other For awhile there wasn't friction and alone you were at ease
But now and then there's something that makes you want to be Back in the arms-but you can't take it

It's always, always, seems to find you What you want you don't need
'Cause she locks you down
So aren't you better off as one?

This prince with little purpose think he'll find it in the wings
Of an angel or a princess but surely not a queen
But that's about the only thing that he knows for sure Yeah, he's the king of contradiction who changes everyday
One minute he finds peace and love and the next he finds disdain
It's way to complicated things will never change

Always, seems like you always
Look for any kind of reason
To justify a means to jump back in

Do you really want to do it have you washed out all the stains
You seem crazy with temptation and very very dazed and confused
Who's trying your throne
The stone inside you call a heart thaws just enough to beat
And familiar feelings come as you surrender to the needs of another
Not another

Always, seems like you always
Claim to have so much control

But you're suck a mess when you're all alone
Always, seems like you always
To justify a means to jump back in
