The dirty leaves are sailing on a hot wind ocean and the summer comes and the summer goes and always has & will and something somewhere that you said goes ricochet all through my head and flashing like a neon sign the time stand still

Chorus:

Hours of forever, coming all together at the crossroads of a minute.
And you and me were in it and I never saw it coming. never saw it fade away today, today, today....Days and Days and still the whining of the wheels sounds closest to the way I fell and winter comes, and winter goes.

And always has & will another hour, another day, another year you pissed away remember walking in the Rain?
I'm walking there still.

(Chorus)

Like every heart to the beat before and every wave to kiss a shore I'm not the first, I'm not the last...
And soon to be your past but every morning, when the light comes creeping in around my eyes another future falls behind the one I had in mind
