Maybe it's just a phase
The days and the nights and the nights and days
Of all the tossing and turning and churning and burning inside my brain
Or maybe I'm finally insane, but I don't know what I believe anymore
Its like I'm caught in some revolving door going over and over and over and over and

Teach me how to pray
Tell me what to say
Help me
Help me
Help me find my way

I never could play the game
You know that all their faces look the same
And I wont give up, won't give in
You know I never want to be like them
Well I'm ticking away like time
You know I'm out of synch and I'm out of my mind
You know I used to know a truth from a lie just by looking in their eyes

Carry me away
Farther and farther and farther every day
Help me
Help me
Help me find my way

I'm hanging by a thread
And the waves of confusion fall down on my head
And when I think of all the things you said
Well the words fall dead

Higher every day
A price I swore I'd never pay
Help me
Help me
Help me find my way
Help me find my way
