Picking up the pieces of my heart left on the floor,
Like it was written in the stars that I was meant for something more.
Now I'm a one man army fighting everybody's war.
Will I survive? I must survive.

The world is on my shoulders,
So much pressure to prevail.
This is the story of my life,
and it's a sad and lonely tale.
So what's the point in trying if you're destiny's to fail?
You won't survive,
But I must survive.

I'm on the run
From everyone
Where moons and suns collide.
My back's up against the wall,
I'll never fall,
When I find all
The dragon balls.

Nights are long and restless,
Danger's always somewhere near
And I'm not saying I'm a hero,
But I'm prepared to face the fear
And was that evil running when they hear my army jail?
We will survive, 'cause we will survive.

I'm on the run
From everyone
Where moons and suns collide.
My back's up against the wall,
I'll never fall
When I find all
The dragon balls.

Evil's not forgiving
We will never give in
Until we're not living.
Do you hear me?

Evil's not forgiving
We will never give in
Until we're not living.
Can you hear me?

Evil's not forgiving,
We will never give in
Until we're not living.
Can you hear me?

I'm on the run
From everyone
Where moons and suns collide.
My back's up against the wall,
I'll never fall
When I find all
The dragon balls.
