Got my feet up in a car
I'm not going where you are
It's my sanity or bust
And it never really was everything I wanted

Everything I needed, everything complete
Everything you've ever heard
And there's not a single word to put your mind at rest
And yes, I never guessed everything you wanted

Everything you needed, everything complete
I only hear what I want to, want to, I want to
And I just follow my feet, and I stumble on

Everything you wanted, everything you needed
Everything complete
I'm almost giving it away, I'm almost near
I'm almost half way home, I might be home
