When I feel down at all that I believe in nonsense once for all I feel all up images hit my target eye politics waste words in my mind world makes a thrifling death sick and tired about my heroes I must look only in my mirror when I feel down at all I live for none, I live for I pray for something different I live for none, I live for none Survive to scream only your fear motivated only by hope and trust for someone else God shows me only a way that changes the dark in day to illuminate my blame
