They say you never come home, boy you been drivin' too fast
When you gonna shape up, how long is this gonna last You may be laughin' today, but listen to some good advice
An' take a look at tomorrow in a workin' man's weary eyes
You gotta pick a career, go for the gold Smile for the camera, do what you're told Well you can take away the ladder 'cos I ain't gonna climb it
If there's a stairway to heaven I swear I'm gonna find it

Well there are winners and outlaws and leaders and lovers
Behind every man in the news
And one thing I know is behind everyone there's a boy who had nothin' to lose Behind every man who has somethin' to say There's a boy who had nothin' to prove An' every hero was once, every villain was once just a boy with a bad attitude
Every hero was once, every villain was once just a boy
with a bad attitude

She says you never call, how come you're actin' so tough
You either hold me too tight, or you don't hold me enough Don't be afraid of me angel, I ain't about to clip your wings
Just put your feet on the ground and your arms around the real thing

You gotta love me for keeps, feather the nest Plan for the future, an' gimme your best Boy we're never gonna have a normal family life Steamin' up and down the speedway on the back a' your bike

Well there are winners and outlaws and leaders and

Behind every man in the news
And one thing I know is behind everyone there's a boy
who had nothin' to lose
Behind every man who has somethin' to say

There's a boy who had nothin' to prove
An' every hero was once, every villain was once just a
boy with a bad attitude
Every hero was once, every villain was once just a boy
with a bad attitude

Bad attitude, you got us tearin' our hair
Such a bad attitude, boy you just don't seem to care We try to lay down the rules, but you were born to refuse What's the world gonna do with a boy like you You got it bad, you got a bad attitude

You try to lay down the rules, well I was born to refuse What's the world gonna do with a man like you You got a bad - no, you got a bad, you got a bad - ooh, you got a bad
You got a bad - no, you got a bad, you got a bad attitude

Every hero was once, every villain was once just a boy
with a bad attitude
Every hero was once, every villain was once just a boy

Well there are winners and outlaws and leaders and
Behind every man in the news
And one thing I know is behind everyone there's a boy
who had nothin' to lose
Behind every man who has somethin' to say
There's a boy who had nothin' to prove
An' every hero was once, every villain was once just a
boy with a bad attitude
Every hero was once, every villain was once just a boy
with a bad attitude

Oh, you got a bad, ooh, you got a bad, oh, you got a bad attitude
No, you got a bad, you got a bad, you got a bad attitude
