"Change The World"

I do not believe that my life is accidental
There is no such thing in my world as coincidental
I have the power, heaven knows I've got the soul
With a rein on my intentions
I have all the control

I will change the world for you
I will change the world for you

It's non-denominational, the spirit in your smile
The key of love is unconditional so make it last a while
I have the power heaven knows I've got the soul
I am in control

I will change the world

We are just a story
That comes true as it's told
Love in all its glory
Around as it unfolds
I choose to believe in you
Hold me in your arms
Take me in as the planet spins
Let me in your heart

I will change the world
For you will change the world
I will change the world
I can change the world
You and I can change the world
We can change the world
You and I will change, change, change,
Change, change the world
