You see, there are times when the doubts get to me
There are days when my mouth just won't speak
When the world seems to love that I'm weak, that I'm weak

You'd always come through, you'd always stayed true
When no one else would
You'd die for my sins, you'd fix everything
When no one else could
And I'd always believe you'd be covering me
When no one else would, no one else could

You know, there are feelings that I never showed
I have fears that nobody will know
There is sadness that grows from below
But I know

You'd always come through, you'd always stayed true
When no one else would
You'd die for my sins, you'd fix everything
When no one else could
And I'd always believe you'd be covering me
When no one else would, no one else could

(That no one else, like no one else)
When nothing works and nothing fix and nothing turns out good

You'd always come through, you'd always stayed true
When no one else would
And I always believed you'd be covering me
When no one else would

You'd always gone through, you'd always stayed true
When no one else would
You'd die for my sins, you'd fix everything
When no one else could
And I'd always believe you'd be covering me
When no one else would, no one else could
