Even if I could
I wouldn't leave you crying
Even if I should
And there is no use denying
That you and I belong together
We share a hidden past
And nothing short of my forever
And yours is what I ask

I don't have much to give you
I don't have much to share
I reach as far as I dare go
And pray I'll find you there

Whispers in the dark
Kisses that are burning
Clouding up my heart
Leaving but I'm yearning
You and I belong together
We share a hidden past
And nothing short of my forever
And yours is what I ask

I don't have much to give you
I don't have much to share
I reach as far as I dare go
And pray I'll find you there
I don't have much to offer
Just body, mind and soul
So tell me what you need
Just what you ask of me
And that is where I'll go
And that is where I'll go
