

Connie Francis "He Thinks I Still Care"

Visit "He Thinks I Still Care" on MotoLyrics.com

Just because I asked a friend about him
Just because I spoke his name somewhere
Just because I rang his number by mistake today
He thinks I still care

Just because I haunt the same old places
Where the memories of him lingers everywhere
Just because I'm not the happy girl I used to be
He thinks I still care

But if he's happy thinking I still need him
Then let that silly notion bring him cheer
Oh, but how could he ever be so foolish
Tell me where did he get such an idea

And just because I asked a friend about him
And just because I spoke his name somewhere
Just because I saw him then went all to pieces
He thinks I still care
He thinks I still care

Visit Connie Francis page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.