And It's hard to find a reason
Why you changed your mind
What has got into you
Could you not take the fight?
Why have you turned away from us
Why do you walk away?
Has life been so hard for you
That you had to give in

The rains been falling down on us
Since what you said
Now inside a quiet voice, that reminds me
Of how it is

Now all that you want
That you said, that you feel, now isn't quite right
Now all that you want
That you said, that you feel, now isn't quite right
Well, isn't quite right, yeah

We know just who we are
And who we want to be
I cannot wear the clothes
You design for me

Where will we go from here
And what will be of us
But I know our greatest fear is
Who we can trust

Oh, all those big words you said
Oh you left me hanging from a ledge
The way that you came through
I still can't believe it's true
Now you turned your back on me
Now things will never be the same
Everything you said isn't quite right
