By the time you're natural
By the time you die
I'll take my head and spin it for you
I'll just look around
And I call you liar
And I call you dead
You come and poisoned all the things that I once set up on
Everybody's hungry
Everybody's high
We'll sit around and ask ourself if it was all a lie
And I already told you
And I already say
But you have got to know yourself and so I let it slide
Can you get together
Can you hold my hand
It takes forever for the sound to get around
And I already love you
And I already want
But will we all just sore
