(Chase Robbins)

Gathered together, the feared men in the banquet-hall were put on a bench assigned, all were strong until we sat them down, to call them out. A henchman attended, carried a cup in hand,
served the clear liquor to the forgotten men.
And these words were sang to me,

Heroes revealed, no glory to shame, take it all aside and show me your face, just once again heroes revealed.

Heroes revealed, no glory to shame, take it all aside, show me your face x2

Now the nights have grown cold, the suns gone without a trace, These are all men of glory and fame.
They'll go to thier homes, to be with thier kids, but once a hero's revealed grab your gear and lets lift these arms

I heard you say youre coming back to fight them off, you know they're coming after you, "something that kellen says i dunno!"

take everything we knew and put it in the past God has forgiven them and so have I, but now we shall resign. x2

heroes revealed, no glory to shame, heroes revealed, no glory to shame, take it aside and
