She's on the prowl,
She wants it all and she'll stop for nothing.
Everyone knows,
She well aware of the fact
That her self respect was long lost
On her search for something.

First in line,
To give it up to the guy at the bar.
Buying two drink at a time
One track mind
It's disgusting that she thinks she's got it all figured out.

But what she doesn't know,
Is that to is she's just another one of them.
Girls like you are a dime a dozen.

Just leave, just leave!
We're all better off without your disease, Disease!
Take your pick from the willing but you'll never get me.
It's obvious the stage is all that you see.
Take your pick from the willing but you'll never get me.

Just go!

The Innocent look on her face is all fake
She's worn out and worn down,
From all the one night stands.
Never any interest in a real man,
Or a love that will last.

Oh what a waste!
What a waste of a beautiful face (a beautiful face)
Was it the way she was raised,
Or just the terrible choices she's chosen to make?

Every night it's all the same.
She steals another heart so she can drop another name.
Oh, what a shame!
You're all the same,

You're all the same.

All dressed up in purple and pink,
She'll do whatever it takes to get to VIP.
She thinks everyone wants to see her down her knees.
But what she doesn't know is
Everyone just wants her to leave!

Just leave, just leave!
We're all better off without your disease, Disease!
Take your pick from the willing but you'll never get me.
It's obvious the stage is all that you see.
Take your pick from the willing but you'll never get me.

I can feel her staring at me from across the room.
She's got the worst intentions
And she smells like trouble and cheap perfume.
She's got one thing on her mind,
Her target locked in sight.
She never gets denied,
But tonight she'll be surprised.

She knows every word to every song I write.
So let's have a sing-a-long,
Hello, hello and goodbye!

One track mind
You want to check me off the list?
Yeah right!
The stage is all you see,
So take your pick from the willing but you'll never get me!
