(Dallas Frazier)

Your mem'ry knocked up on my door this morning
Then a hurt drop by to break my heart in two A storm cloud filled with aching pain finally found a place to rain
Everything's found a home with me but you.

Everything's found a home with me but you
And the love you promised me is now with someone new
A million tears wait in the hall they'd found the home where they can fall
Everything's found a home with me but you.

--- Instrumental ---

Everything's found a home with me but you
And the love you promised me is now with someone
A million tears wait in the hall they'd found the home
where they can fall
Everything's found a home with me but you.

Everything's found a home with me but you...
