There comes a time in life when you have to make your decisions

To mould your future because tomorrow is another day Well I've been sitting, thinking, and I kinda see it this way

I'd really like to be 'man at C & A'

I'd really like to be

I really wanna be

The position was made for me

I think I've got to be

I don't really care if we're in or out of Europe

And I don't give a toss if inflation is up or down

Just give me my Sky TV

All I want is my Ford Capri

And I'll be happier that way

I think I'll spend my time wearing lairy shorts in Essex

I think I'll spend my days burning holes in the ozone layer

And when my children say, 'What did you do for me
Dad?'

I'll say, 'Don't ask me kid, I was man at C & A'

You can find a future if you stroll down to the job club

And you can buy anything as long as you're willing to pay

But I get all I want at my local Sainsbury's supermarket

And the rest are at bargain prices

When I shop down at C & A

So when your time comes and you have to make your decisions

To mould your future, because tomorrow's is another day

Then why not join me at the queue down at the check out

And we could all be men down at C & A
