Sitting all alone, I think of my sorrows
Now I realize that I want to be, need to be more These thoughts can't be good for my health
I cannot see I cannot take anymore
These people always look to their wealth I've seen what this world has in store These feelings come straight to my core, and I can feel it now
Its brought me to the floor

I'm searching for my mentality, to bring back my sane for my mentality, I'm losing my grip for my mentality, its lost in this world for my mentality, it takes me away, it takes me away.

Nothing in this world means anything to me and I would not have this outcome any other way I must keep looking for it, searching through and through and I realize now this wont mean a single thing to you

I'm searching for my mentality, I can finaly say I've found my mentality, I need it to stay I need my mentality, to wash this to way Cause it's my mentality, theres nothing to say Theres nothing to say.
