I remember their faces
I remember their stares
I remember how wasted
You were in bed
And I know you want it
And I know you can't
And I know you feel this
And I know it's there
You were speaking to no-one
I called your name
You were looking for something
Without any chains
And I know you want it
And I know you can't
And I know you feel this
And I know it's there
I was talking to someone
You pulled me aside
You were telling her something
For I called her back
And I know you want it
And I know you can't
And I know you feel this
And I know it's there
And I know you want it
And I know you can't
And I know you feel this
And I know it's there
