You can tell white lies
And walk away from here
You can tell your side
And never see the clear

And you can tell it all
I'll stop you if you stray
And save you saying something you should never say
And you can spell it out
I'll help you win the day
And I will stop you saying something

You could have his hands
Wrapped around your throat
And you could see your face
Covered with your coat

And you can tell it all
I'll stop you if you stray
And save you saying something you should never say
And you can spell it out
I'll help you win the day
And I will stop you saying something

I don't think they know
They didn't see you arrive
They didn't hear you go
I don't think they know
They didn't see you arrive
They didn't hear you go

If you find a brave face
And wear it for the day
I will find a suitcase
And we could melt away

And you can tell it all
I'll stop you if you stray
And save you saying something you should never say
And you can spell it out
I'll help you win the day

And I will stop you saying something...

I don't think they know
They didn't see you arrive
They didn't hear you go
