"State Of Mind"

I, I needed to see how far you would take me Cause any further than this is a place I would rather miss
Had to move on Almost trusted you with my love
Had to make sense of all your interest
It will only take one thing
This time to realise your state of mind
Cause I can be used beaten and bruised
To justify your state of mind
But I won't be fooled - this time
I was the seed that grew from your treachery
And I was the taste that opened up the mouth of your mistake
It will only take one thing this time
To realise your state of mind
Cause I can be used beaten and bruised
To justify your state of mind
But I won't be fooled - this time
From ordinary words and ordinary days
Something impossible came
Made you a liar to feed a desire
To break my heart again
It will only take one thing
This time to realise your state of mind
Cause I can be used beaten and bruised
To justify your state of mind
But I won't be fooled - this time
