Ooh

I learn about life through your life
I learn about touch through your hands
I learn about love through your heart
I learn to be kind where I can

But the window's still broken
It's starting to freeze
And the only thing I ever wanted
Is scattered in the breeze

I learn about strength through your strength
I learn about hope in your eyes
I learn about taste through your lips
I learn about trust through your lies

But the cuts are still open
They're starting to bleed
It's the only thing I ever wanted
The only thing I need

Can you teach me to feel it?
I'll take it step by step so I never miss a thing
Make me feel it
I'll get inside your head till you live inside me
Teach me to feel it
I'll take it step by step so I never miss a thing
Make me feel it
I'll get inside your head till you live inside me

I learn about life everlasting
I learn to contain your surprise
I learn about faith by believing
I learn about lust when it dies

And you're all I ever cared for
Through all that I've done
And the only thing that's not sewn up
Are the lessons left undone

(Repeat chorus to fade)
