Waiting for the sun to come along
I stand and wait here all alone
Can't think about the things that you talk about The things that I heard about and the stranger you've become
For so long I've waited for you

I walk away, and I see today
Can't stand when Sunday comes around
Can't be afraid, I can't be safe
There's hell to pay if Sunday comes around

Shaking in fear of what's to come
My eyes are blinded by the sun
Can't live without the things that you live without The pain makes me scream and shout when I feel I don't belong
For so long I've waited for you

I walk away, I see today
Can't stand when Sunday comes around
Can't be afraid, I can't be safe
There's hell to pay when Sunday comes around

Somebody's watching you
Somebody's waiting for you
Somebody's watching you
Somebody's wating for you

I walk away, I see today
Can't stand when Sunday comes around
Can't be afraid, I can't be safe
There's hell to pay if Sunday comes around

I can't be safe, can't be afraid
Can't stand when Sunday comes around
I walk away, I see today
There's hell to pay when Sunday comes around
