All circles presuppose their end where they begin
But only in their leaving can they ever come back
around

All circles presuppose their end where they begin
But only in their leaving can they ever come back

All circles presuppose their end where they begin
All circles presuppose their end where they begin
But only in their leaving can they ever come back

All circles presuppose their end where they begin
But only in their leaving can they ever come back

All circles presuppose their end where they begin

All circles begin with an end
They come back around
They come back around again

All circles presuppose their end where they begin
But only in their leaving can they ever come back

(All circles presuppose their end where they begin
But only in their leaving can they ever come back
around)
