

Mia Carruthers And The Retros "Chasing After Something"

Visit "Chasing After Something" on MotoLyrics.com

It's a little too late for you to know,
The plans I had for you.
Been a little too long since we last met,
I can hardly remember all that I regret.
All of those times we felt alive,
All I had with me.
We're moving on to everywhere,
But none of us have yet to see.

Everyone around me is chasing after something,
Leaving their homes behind.
Into almost nothing,
Chasing after something to put their hearts behind.

We're not the same, we both can say,
That's all we have in common today.
I know you think it's all a lie,
But I want you to come and see me for me.

Everyone around me is chasing after something,
Leaving their homes behind.
Into almost nothing,
Chasing after something to put their hearts behind.

Everyone around me is chasing after something,
Leaving their homes behind.
Into almost nothing,
Chasing after something to put their hearts behind.

I can picture me without you,
Seeing life in shades of blue.

Everyone around me is chasing after something,
Leaving their homes behind.

Everyone around me is chasing after something,
Leaving their homes behind.
It's chasing after something, chasing after something,
To put their hearts behind.

