Sometimes it's tough to make it through the day
It's hard enough when all your dreams
Just seem so far away
I step outside to face a shade of gray, oh

But even when darkness falls
I look into your eyes and I escape

Baby, you comfort me
Only you remind me to breathe
When my life becomes invisible
You're the only light I need
Baby, you, you comfort me

The faces change when time is on your side
The hand you trust can suddenly become a plate of lies
The winds of war can leave no place to hide, oh no

Until I hear a voice that calls
Lifts me up and carries me away

Baby, you comfort me
Only you remind me to breathe
When life makes me a prisoner
It's your love that sets me free
Baby, you, you comfort me

My shelter from the rage of the storm
You take me to the place in time
Where my soul lift safe and warm

Until I hear a voice that calls
Lifts me up and carries me away

Baby, you comfort me
Only you can make me believe
When the truth becomes invisible
You're the only light I need

When life makes me a prisoner
It's your love that sets me free
Baby, you, only you

Baby, you, you comfort me, oh yeah
