If you were me and I was you
I'd be flirtatious to see what you would do
After all, I'm too reserved
And fail to act till I observe

I'll make you mine in just a little while
I'll take my time, it's just a little while
Till every sign points back to me
And I can make a move

Friday night I walked you home
You said you didn't want to be alone
I replied, that's good to know
It's nice to see you, I've got to go

I'll make you mine in just a little while
I'll take my time, it's just a little while
Till every sign points back to me
And I can make a move
There's no way I'll lose

'Cause when you look me in the eye
You're all aglow, It's just as though
You've been hiding something
Behind that innocent smile
(That makes two of us)

When the time's exactly right
I'll let you know, for all I know
Unless it seems I've misinterpreted
What I thought to be reciprocal
And stop to think...

If you were you, and I was me
My plan of action would be to wait and see
So I'll be somebody else
Unless you'd rather me be myself

In which case
I'll make you mine in just a little while
I'll take my time, it's just a little while
Till every sign points back to me

And I can make a move

I'll make you mine in just a little while
I'll take my time, it's just a little while
Till every sign points back to me
And I can make a move

I can make a move
I can make a move
In just a little while
