If I'd have all the time in the world
I'd give you part of it, that's what you deserve
I didn't meant to hurt you, that's was the truth
Look in to my eyes, why would I lie to you
That's it, what many doesn't have, and some need
Is what, people been fighting, around the history
What am I speaking about, you should been
More what you're and paid attention to listening
About culture, about everything
Don't you have a heart, don't you use your ears?
Have you slept while being taught?
Haven't you noticed that this as well
Every minute, every second, it's an journey with risks
But we need to win our fears and face them
Otherwise, we're living in shadows, hiding from the sun
Don't know where we are and who to trust
The time will show us, teach us and be in our side
Forever, 'til the last days of our lives.
