

Michael Sullivan

"Heaven Waits For You"

Visit "Heaven Waits For You" on MotoLyrics.com

A baby's born today and somewhere else
Somebody's time has passed away
You never really think of what it means
Until the circle comes your way
One day you gain, the next day you lose
It's just something we must go through
We all feel pain, we'll get through the rain
If we reach out and choose
The good within the bad, the joy within the sadness
If we only had a world without the madness
I'd call it Heaven too, Heaven waits for you
I never knew the true meaning of life
Until my little boy was born
What happened was a miracle
That changed my life that February morn
One day I'll see, the man he will be
And I pray that he makes it through
All of the pain, he'll get through the rain
If he learns to reach out and choose
CHORUS

Visit Michael Sullivan page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.