

Michael Sullivan

"Wool And Chiffon"

Visit "Wool And Chiffon" on MotoLyrics.com

(Luke 8:16)

Driving down a one-way lane
I've got peace of mind and faith retained
And I know my life is more than just a game
But then a voice says "Exit here"
And before I know it, it's unclear
As to where I am, as my heart flows with fear
Everything I ought to be is retained within my memory
As I drift a little further out to sea
And that inner voice inside my thoughts
It wants everything so I have not
And it wants to steal the good that I've been taught

PRE - CHORUS

Where am I going, where am I heading, I used to know
CHORUS

I'll do what's right, then I'll do what's wrong
I'm so tired of playing the very same song
My light is off, when it should be on
I'm giving Wool, when it should be Chiffon
Finally it all makes sense
That it's GOD above who breaks the fence
And who leads and loves me in His providence
And when someone says "Get off here man"
I'll say travel with me if you can Cause I'm going till I reach the Promised Land

PRE-CHORUS

Where am I going, where am I heading, now I know
CHORUS

I'll do what's right, then I'll do what's wrong
I'm so tired of playing the very same song
My light is off, when it should be on
I'm giving Wool, when it should be Chiffon
REPEAT CHORUS

Visit Michael Sullivan page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.