Arise, my beautiful one
Come go with me and see that the winters over
The rains have come and gone
And flowers appear, the season of singing has come
Waters cannot quench this love
That rivers cannot wash away
This love it is as strong as death
It lives beyond the grave
Your as fair as the moon
As bright as the sun, majestic as stars in procession
Oh arise, my beautiful one
Come go with me, the season of singing has come
Waters cannot quench this love
That rivers cannot wash away
This love it is as strong as death
It lives beyond the grave
Waters cannot quench this love
That rivers cannot wash away
This love it is as strong as death
It lives beyond the grave
