It's been a while, since I've had a single thought about you
Clueless and blind, to the rumors that were going around
You criticized everything I did and said behind me
Now you wanna make amends
I don't need that again

I fight, you win, so game over...
Who's right, again? no one cares
Drag my name in, lie to my face and then...
You wanna be my friend
You wanna be my friend

When it came down, the chip on your shoulder was big as your head
But you stuck around, just to see your name up in the credits
Still I held out, I defended you and lived to regret it Did you think I'd forget
Everything you said?
I fight, you win, so game over
Who's right, again?
No one cares
Drag my name in, lie to my face and then...
You wanna be my friend
You wanna be my friend

I never wanted any mentions in your story I never wanted any more than my share
Take your guitars and delusions of glory
Shut the door and go back downstairs

I fight, you win, so game over
Who's right, again?
No one cares
Drag my name in, lie to my face and then...
You wanna be my friend
You wanna be my friend
