Hey, it's just a song, but what a song
Seems like it was written for me.
Before I ever heard it, I knew the words
I felt the melody

And what you said went round
And reached a long way down
All I've wanted was a chance to see you
Everybody want so bad to be you
But noone thinks about the inside like I do You're the only one who lifts me high and I wish I could slip in your eyes and Live through you

I wander through each line, like you read my mind,
And you could find me if I'm lost.
And when I feel bad,
I turn you up and I play the sad ones the most.
You're the one way out can you feel me now...
All I've wanted was a chance to see you
Everybody want so bad to be you
But noone thinks about the inside like I do
You're the only one who lifts me high
And I wish I could slip in your eyes and
Live through you
And I could dream about all you dream about,
Through the lights and moving crowds you're calling out to all the lonely Hear you on the radio and it makes me cry, because you know
Pierce through my little world of if only
If only...
