Disenchanting the romantic
This is the real, this is the shame
These limbs search feverishly for the gift of gravity Coarse twine tears clean
And I have thought about this very instance for all time Decades longer than you or I Crimson comforting, scorching this flesh giving its caring for me And I have thought about these moments for all time dangling from a silver lining these lungs welcome the crimson tide of misfortune Hell to pay
This is my farewell to this city
