Death was just a simple glance across a dim lit room

And those eyes did it

Those three words did it

Those three words killed him

And I surrender to it all

Between you and me, I surrender to you

Forgive me for the sadness

And the bringing of you down

I just needed a lover and I needed a friend

And there you were

Running from forever like all the rest

Three simple words bled me dry

Three simple word bled us dry, bled us dry

I love you
