Well here you are again just like so many times before down on your knees You make a promise just as like you've made and never kept before to me You're tellin' me you're sorry for the things you say you didn't mean to do But old friend you'd better make it because I'm gettin' tired of losing you

I've lost you to the booze and bars and uptown girls a dozen times before
For years I've tried to fake it but I ain't a gonna take it anymore
Though I hoped that you'll rehearse your line You're gonna say and pray it will come true Cause there won't be no next time buddy I'm gettin'
tired of losing you

But darling please please don't leave me I know I did you wrong before just like you said I would Oh darling please please believe me If you'll take me back just one more time I promise I'll be good Well here you are again...
