Two different worlds, somehow find a way to come together
Moving so close til now, and we find ourselves alone
So it's one more lonely night
I try to feel like it was over.

But, just the thought of losing you
And the emptiness is more than I can take
Living without loving you
My senses all break down, now
Girl, I'm lost at just the thought of losing you.

All of my life, no one else ever meant enough to hold me
I've been afraid of myself, and the way I needed you
You've been waiting much too long
I don't need to think it over.

And, just the thought of losing you
And the emptiness is more than I can take
Living without loving you
My senses all break down, now
Girl, I'm lost at just the thought of losing you.

Just the thought of losing you
And the emptiness is more than I can take
Just the thought of losing you
I close my eyes now, I can't see it end this way...
