

Conway Twitty "Love Coming Down"

Visit "Love Coming Down" on MotoLyrics.com

I remeber how your eyes used to light up
At the promises I made
But for the first time in my life
I know now how it feels to be afraid.

I don't know what I'd do if you'd go away
This would sure be one lonely old town
For a man so busy going up in the world
He couldn't see love coming down, love coming down.

I remember all the times you told me
Love's all that mattered to you
And looking back now wondering how
I believe I had things more important to do.

I can see how I must have looked to you
Like some fool on a merry-go-round
Another man so busy going up in the world
He couldn't see love coming down, love coming down.

Can't you see how everything I've learned
Wuld just be wasted if you leave me
If you'll just give it one more try
I swear I'll always be here when you need me.

If you can find in your heart to forgive me
I'll try to keep my feet on the ground
Forgive a man so busy going up in the world
He couldn't see love coming down, love coming down.

I need you baby...

Visit Conway Twitty page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.