Someday I'll be strong enough
To make that church bells ring
And when my voice grows steady
I can help the choir sing.

Somehow I can be usefull
So put me to the test
I know I can't do very much
But Lord I'll do my best.

Last night just at bed time
I looked in upon my son
And the picture I saw as I stood there
Was surely a blessed one.

Proudly I watched and listened
To all he tried to say
'Cause it makes my heart just burst with pride
When I hear my children pray.

And he said dear Lord I'm just a little boy
And I don't know how to pray
But so many of your people
Has slowly turned away.

Well, maybe there's something I can do
To help in your great plan
I know I can't do very much
But I'll do the best I can.

Couldn't I light the little candles
Or maybe sweep the pews
I'll do anything dear Lord
Just as long as it's for you.

Why, can I open up the doors
Or dust your sacred stand
I know I can do something
If you'll just hold my hand.

Yes, proudly I stood and listened
To all he tried to say

And it makes my heart just burst with pride
When I hear my children pray.

I know I can't do very much
But Lord I'll do my best..
